

TWO SUBMARINES LOST BY AUSTRIA

Two Others Are Missing and Are Also Believed to Have Been Destroyed.

MILAN, Aug. 16.—The Austrian navy has lost two submarines in two days, the U-12 and the U-3. There are besides good reasons to believe that two other Austrian submarines were damaged or sunk some time before. Out of 12 submarines Austria now has only eight left.

From Venice we learn some of the circumstances in which the U-12 was destroyed. It was due in great part to the clever maneuver of an Italian torpedo boat which sighted the periscope in the middle of the Adriatic. The submarine maneuvered to get near the torpedo boat, intending to discharge a torpedo at a favorable moment, but the torpedo boat steered round and steamed in the direction of the coast.

Near the coast an Italian submarine by a clever maneuver sent a torpedo just as the Austrian submarine was passing, so as to strike the stern of the torpedo boat. The Italian submarine then approached, intending to rescue the enemy's crew and take them prisoners, but the U-12 sank so rapidly that none could be saved.

Reported That Germany and Austria Have Disagreed.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 16.—Are Germany and Austria at loggerheads over the Polish question?

The Frankfurter Zeitung recently stated that the two central nations had disagreed over the subject, Berlin desiring to see a German prince on the Polish throne while Vienna favored an Austrian archduke for the position.

This unusually well informed journal now speaks out more sharply than ever on the subject, telling the Poles bluntly that their desires must be subservient to those of Germany.

"Austrian Poles already have taken the initiative," comments the Zeitung, "and presumably Austria was aware of the steps they intended to take."

"Germany and Austria went to war to protect their own frontiers. The desire of the Poles therefore cannot be the only standard by which the future of that country will be decided. Germany and Austria will have the final word. The independence of Poland will not be settled by the dictation of one side. Moreover, it must be remembered that it was not Poles who freed themselves; they were freed by Germany and Austria, who must attend to their own interests first."

REVOLT IS AT HAND

Gen. Villa's Garrison Wants to Join Peace Army.

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 16.—Gen. Villa's garrison in the city of Chihuahua is about to revolt and join the army of peace now being organized in several western states of Mexico.

This news was received here tonight in a home telegram to American officials. It is said that the jefe de armas of Chihuahua has signed a proclamation in which it is stated that the Mexican people will have peace if they have to fight for it. Gen. Villa, it is said, is afraid to order the execution of this officer in the fear of inciting the people into riot.

Villa is now in Chihuahua.
